WHAT IS A COOKIE?

A cookie is a small amount of data, which often includes a unique identifier that is sent to your computer, tablet or mobile phone (all referred to here as a “device”) web browser from a website’s computer and is stored on your device’s hard drive. Each website can send its own cookie to your web browser if your browser’s preferences allow it. Many websites do this whenever a user visits their website in order to track online traffic flows. Similar technologies are also often used within emails to understand whether the email has been read or if any links have been clicked. If you continue without changing your settings, we’ll assume that you are happy to receive all cookies on Morgan Agency’s website. However, you can change your cookie settings at any time.

OUR USE OF COOKIES

On Morgan Agency’s website cookies record information about your online preferences and allow us to tailor the website to your interests. During the course of any visit to Morgan Agency’s website, the pages you see, along with a cookie, are downloaded to your device. Many websites do this because cookies enable website publishers to do useful things like finding out whether the device (and probably its user) has visited the website before. This is done on a repeat visit by checking to see, and finding, the cookie left there on the last visit.

HOW DOES MORGAN AGENCY USE COOKIES?

Information supplied by cookies can help us to understand the profile of our visitors and help us to provide you with a better user experience.

In order to facilitate sound information security practices we record interactions with this website in the form of website server logs. This records your remote IP Address, the resources accessed on our website, date/time and your browser information. This information will be retained for up to 12 months to support our efforts in auditing and to safeguard our website.

For any other enquiries please contact our data protection officer ellen@morganagency.co.uk.
